LUCK
In answer to a query, I readily admit that I believe in luck—that is to a certain extent. Chance seems to play an important part in the lives of many individuals. Good things apparently drop into the laps of some persons, while missing others equally deserving.

The argument that the things that happen to us are all part of a logical plan, may be sound, but if true, no proof can be adduced to sustain the contention.

A SAMPLE
A familiar sight in Los Angeles a few years ago was an Indian standing at a prominent corner on Wilshire Boulevard directing traffic. This original American was the possessor of many millions of dollars, which came to him through oil royalties, and not by reason of any action of planning of his own.
No sooner had he acquired the wealth than a white woman annexed him and his dollars, and then ensued a fight, directed by the government, to place him under guard-ship. That fight was still in progress when he was called to the "happy hunting grounds."

TWO KINDS
There are people who seemingly come into the world with a rabbit's foot clutched in their tiny fingers, and all through life the goddess of chance smiles radiantly upon them.
There are others who seem destined for ill-fortune and it dogs their footsteps from the cradle to the grave.

NOT ALL LUCK
It is easy to confuse luck with ability and brains. Many things are attributed to luck that really have little or no connection with it. This truth was impressed upon my mind yesterday when listening to the Census Of Business To Be Taken Here

George E. Sheldon, supervisor of the census of business, yesterday announced that four enumerators, have been appointed to present census forms to local business houses and help them fill out the necessary information. They are: G. M. Cushing, H. H. Turley, Albert Madden and Thomas Wees.

DATA CONFIDENTIAL
Sheldon stressed the fact that the information given enumerators will be held in strict confidence. All enumerators and other persons connected with the census, work under a drastic census oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes. He stated that under the census law it is a criminal offense to violate this confidence, that no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to government state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would reveal any of the facts or figures in the returns. The census is the oldest bureau of the government, established nearly 150 years ago, and never has been convicted of a violation of

MANY HURT AT FUNERAL FOR RULER

LONDON, Jan. 28.—UP—Old England today buried King George V.
her sovereign for a quarter century, in the most impressive pageant of death ever enacted.
Six kings headed the largest group of the world's mighty gathered for a funeral. They followed to his grave the little, headed gentleman who from 1911 to 1936 personified the mighty British Empire and traditions of royalty dating from antiquity.
Kings, queens, princes and publican dignitaries stood sorrow-fully by as the simple service of the Church of England—the same for a king or a coal miner—was read. Simultaneously Britons all around the world bowed in mourning, for the service was broadcast to the four corners of the earth.
Then the simple coffin sank from sight into the vault of historic St.
George's chapel as the slight figure of youthful King Edward VIII bowed, his arm outstretched over the hole in last farewell to his father.

BUGLES ROUNDED
Left as the last visible reminder of George V. was the shroud of England, the fabulous Star of Africa gleaming in its setting, before the altar.
Bugle notes of the "last post" sounded outside the chapel. The mourners stood for two minutes in silence. Then as the mighty organ burst into the "Death March From Saul," King Edward and his mother, Queen Mary, turned and passed to have crashed, were seen together again in Los Angeles recently. It was the first time since Barrymore fled westward appeared together in public.

BODY HACKED BY ATTACKER IN JAIL ROW

JOHET, III., Jan. 28.—UP—Richard (Dickie) Loeb, 29 year old co-sister of little Bobbie Franks, was slashed to death with a razor today by a frenzied fellow convict.
The convict, James Day, 23, a cellmate of Na-han Leopold's companion in the Franks murder, of 11 years ago, told his story to investigators tonight, insisting he took the razor, stolen from the prison barber shop, away from Loeb and killed the "thrill slayer" in self defense.

"HOUNDED HIM"
"Day said that Loeb has been bouncing him ever since he was transferred here from the Pontiac reformatory," Edward G. Powers, investigator for state's attorney, Will McCabe told reporters. "He says that Loeb wanted him to submit to certain tests and he refused."
Powers said he doubted several parts of Day's story, which did not completely fit the facts as they emerged, particularly the part in which Day said he took the razor from Loeb.

CUT 50 TIMES
Powers said "I don't know of a part of his body which was not cut. I would not estimate the number of cuts, but there must have been close to 50. One was across the jugular vein."
"Last Friday, Day says, he had some words with Loeb. This morning, when Day was going past Loeb and Leopold's cell, he stopped and spoke to Loeb and said he would

BANK FUNDS TIED UP BY COURT ORDER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—UP—
Treasury funds of the Sailor's Union of the Pacific were tied up today by a temporary restraining order issued by Federal Judge M.
J. Roche on the initiative of the International Seamen's Union.
The I. S. U. yesterday revoked the Sailor's Union charter at a convention in Washington, D. C.

COURT ORDER ISSUED
The court order forbids the Sailors Union or any of its officers or agents to transfer or pay any property or funds, and ordered a representative of the union to appear February 3 and show cause why the order should not be made permanent.

The order was filed by the executive board of the I. S. U., which asked that all funds and property of the outlawed union, including meeting halls in San Francisco and San Pedro, be turned over to the parent organization.

TO FIGHT ORDER
The order of the International Seamen's Union in convention in Washington, D. C., revoking the charter of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, will be fought to the "last ditch," Harry Landberg, Seattle, recently elected secretary-treasurer of the West Coast organization, said today.
Landberg said the charter revocation was illegal in that it as-

ETHIOPIANS MAY FLEE ADDIS ABABA

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 28.—UP—Ethiopian warplanes mustering reforcements for her southern army today as fear spread that Addis Ababa might have to be abandoned suddenly before the onslaught of General Rudofo Graziani's mechanized legions.

Reliable reports from the southern front said Dejazmatch Ababa with an unknown number of warriors is en route to the Gannale Darya river to help his younger brother Haile Selassie, whose 25,000 troops are said to have been utterly destroyed in the battle with Italy's army.

CITY NOT GUARDED
The city is almost completely unprotected. There are neither forts nor any considerable number of troops near. Emperor Selassie withdrew almost all soldiers so that Italy would not resort to a bombardment.

A communique issued today said that Ethiopian troops occupied several important Italian posts northwest of Makale and are constantly harassing the Italians. Graz-iani's troops, with 23 men, surprised an Italian post at Abokha. A battering team and machine guns communicated said Italian reinforcements forced the Ethiopians to retreat later, leaving two wounded, whom the Italians "burned alive," it asserted.

Borah Opens Campaign To Be Nominated

BROOKLYN, Jan. 28.—UP—Senator William E. Borah tonight virtually announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.
In his first campaign speech in the East, the veteran progressive Republican told 3,400 Brooklyn Republicans crowded in and around Kismet temple, and millions more listening in on a limited network radio, that voters should bolt their political bosses and that he should put their questions to "the other candidates" as well as to him.

"Is W. E. Borah the only man who is going to be called on the carpet?" he demanded of Negro hecklers who insisted upon a showdown of Borah's vote against an anti-lynch bill.
The Senator challenged those who deny his fitness for the presidency. He called on "disfranch-ised voters" of New York and the nation to pick their own candidates and platforms for 1936.

ing quietly in a fire drill, fled out shortly after the blaze was discovwas estimated at $25,000. The children were taken to shelter in farm

WPA Worker To Face Court On Drunk Charges

W. J. Deddick, local WPA worker residing at a Richmond apartment house, was in the city jail last evening charged with driving while drunk as the result of a minor automobile accident at the West side.
According to police, Deddick's machine struck and slightly damaged a car owned by Charles Giovannetti, 418 Western Drive. The accident happened in front of 145 Golden Gate avenue. Giovannetti saw the accident and called police. A few minutes later the owner of the damaged car pointed out Deddick's machine, which was being parked at West Richmond avenue near Park Place.

Police say Deddick readily admitted that he had struck the car and promised to "fix it all up." He was examined by a physician who police charge, said Deddick was under the influence of liquor.
Deddick will appear before Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning for hearing.

The only announcement the pension plan founder made before the retired temporarily to the privacy of his home was that he would "hold any third party plan in abeyance until he knew whether the Republican or Democratic parties would support the Townsend plan."

New Dealers Launch War On Al Smith

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.—
UP—The New Deal tonight sharply accused Alfred E. Smith of hitting President Roosevelt "below the belt" and lashed him for deserting to the "enemy" under fire.

In the Administration's formal and bristling reply to Smith's criticism of the New Deal before American Liberty League diners, Senate Majority Leader Joe T. Robinson cited "the record" to show that the former New York governor once approved every basic policy initiated by Mr. Roosevelt.

Furthermore, Robinson asserted, in the dark days of 1933 Smith advocated that the constitution be placed temporarily "on the shelf" and that democracy assume the power of a "tyrant, a despot or a monarch" to fight the depression.

Earlier in the day a cabinet member and a powerful labor leader had laid down a barrage for the main attack on "The Happy Warrior." John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America denounced Smith as a "jibbering political jackass." Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes proposed that Smith and Herbert Hoover get together to agree on the definition of "socialism."

LUISETTI IS POGEY MAN TO BEAR QUINTET

Berkeley, Jan. 28.—How are you going to stop Hank Luisetti? That's the worst way to start a conversation with C. A. "Nuts" Price, coach of the University of California basketball team which next Friday night tackles the foe when the Stanford five, headed by the fabulous "Hank", comes to California for the second game of the Bear-Indian series.

Price is busy filling up the backs of envelopes with "offensive" but he isn't telling, and he's getting pretty well fed up with the question. Luisetti made canasta statistics dig into the record books when he hit the USC hoop for 31 field goals and eight free throws last Saturday night to contribute 59 points to the Indian cause in a half-raising 61 to 47 win over the Trojans. It appears that Luisetti's performance constitutes an all-time record in Conference play. Certainly it forces into the shade the best efforts of such stars of former years as Hal Effert, of California, and Lee Gutters, USC, who occasionally scored in the twenties.

The Bears hit the comeback trail last week-end at Los Angeles, taking a brace of games from the UCLA quintet and gaining, thereby, a strong claim on third place in the league standings. A win over the Indians Friday night would put them within striking distance of the Trojans, the defending champions, who dropped into second place with two losses to the Indians last week-end.

While the "Luisetti question" has become the problem of the hour as far as Price and his charges are concerned, another cause for worry in the Bear camp is the continued failure of the Bear forwards to dominate the scoring for the Bids and Gold Five.

Friday night's game is billed for 8 o'clock with the California Pressmen meeting at the local school of San Francisco. In the preliminary at 6:30 o'clock.

Trunk Death Of Woman Baffles
Spokane Police

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 28.—UP—Autopsy today failed to reveal how Mrs. Dolores Naccarato, 24-year-old waitress, was killed before her body was packed into a stranger's trunk last November and left in a hotel room where it was found Sunday.

Elmer Hagashi, the mysterious little Japanese forger suspect who was allegedly Mrs. Naccarato's lover, tonight was the object of concentrated police search. Two other suspects have been outright eliminated by police.

Wallace Defends
New Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace marched up Capitol Hill today to defend the new farm program before a Senate committee divided on its constitutionality, and marched back down to attack the Supreme Court processing tax decision as "probably the greatest legalized step in American history."

Meanwhile, Representative O. H. Cross, D., Texas, warned that "revolution will come" unless the country's laws are changed to fit the economic and social changes of the nation.

21 Defendants
To Face Trial
For Mail Fraud

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—UP—Trial of 21 men indicted by the Federal grand jury on charges of using the mails to defraud, will start in San Francisco April 21, Federal Judge Harold Louderback announced today.

The court's announcement followed appearance of John E. Hanabarger, statistician of the Standard Securities company, who pleaded not guilty and requested permission to return to his work in Spokane. The other defendants will be arraigned February 6.

The 21 defendants are accused of conspiring to defraud by the sale of West American Consolidated Gold Mining Company stock.

Indictments charge that Arthur Hamburg, president of the company, and the other defendants represented that 200,000 tons of ore in one of the company's mines assessed $7 a ton, whereas government experts report it assayed below $1 a ton.

Hollywood
Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28.—UP—Dogs are merely dogs, after all, Hollywood lately has decided, and when they are featured in pictures they aren't to be depicted as creatures of super-human intelligence.

Evidence of such an understanding was revealed when the production of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture "Tough Guy" got underway. In fact, the director of the picture, Chester Franklin, let the film, Jan. 28, play merely a dog part.

"In the silent days," explained Franklin, "the dog star was presented as a combination of Sherlock Holmes and any psychologist you care to name. He also was a super-stylish strong man with the courage of a lion."

"Now there has to be realism in pictures. The public demands that human actors and actresses do their stuff with something of an air of naturalness. So I decided the same rule should apply to dogs."

In "Tough Guy" Rin Tin Tin, Jr., is allowed to perform naturally. The appearance of Rin Tin Tin, Jr., in the picture marks the return to the screen of animal heroes.

When Rin Tin Tin, Sr., was a star, his trainer could put him through his paces before the camera with oral commands and directions. The microphone, however, ruled that out. So does just left pictures.

Lee Dupont, Rin Tin Tin, Jr.'s trainer, overcame the difficulty by teaching the dog the sign language. "I hit on the deaf-and-dumb alphabet idea," Dupont explains, "I figured out a command for each signal, and then started teaching the dog. I'd give the command verbally and at the same time hold up my hand with the corresponding gesture.

"That was in the weeks finally the dog learned to associate the oral command with the hand signal. Then I'd start skipping the voice part and pretty soon he was going through his paces according to the sign language."

The learning process took two years, according to Dupont.

Stone Appeal Is Awaited By Court Leaders

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—UP—Despite a new state law which provides for an automatic appeal to the Supreme Court in the case of death sentences, Elton M. Stone, confessed slayer of Mary Stanner, 14, of Fresno, can be hanged immediately if he will waive the right of appeal. Chief Justice William H. Waste of the State Supreme Court said today.

Stone yesterday pleaded guilty to murdering the schoolgirl, and, under an automatic appeal, the Supreme Court may take 90 days to deliberate before affirming or reversing the judgment of the lower court.

If Stone, however, were to consent to a dismissal of the appeal, Justice Waste said, the time elapsing between his sentencing and execution would be shortened. Stone is now in Folsom prison.

The occasion was the trial of Jean Lapierre and Grace Carlos, burlesque show string-dancers, charged with indecency, and the speaker was defense attorney Herman Gill.

Gill, drawing quotations from the Bible and St. Paul's radio speech, made a fervent plea for the innocence of his clients.

"If accounts of the recent Cambodian Ball are correct," Gill said, "the acts of San Francisco's society dancers and nude mermaids completely made but the police didn't dare put the finger on them."

EARLY SYMPTOMS OF HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE GIVE NO WARNING

In yesterday's article, I pointed out that a blood pressure above 140 should be considered too high. Continuing with the subject of high blood pressure, in today's article I wish to explain that the striking thing about high blood pressure is that it may exist for years without the patient being aware of that fact. In the beginning, the patient develops no symptoms to warn him, and the pressure may rise to 190 or over without his knowing that he is in any danger. As the blood pressure gradually rises, the remarkable thing is the total lack of symptoms noted. Most cases of high blood pressure come to the attention of a doctor not in the early stages, but during the later stages when the pressure is abnormally high.

In the course of time, the patient may develop various symptoms which he notices but it is an almost invariable rule that distinctive symptoms are absent during the earlier stages. When the arteries of the kidneys are involved, the patient may then develop those symptoms indicative of Bright's Disease or Nephritis. In the average case, of arterial hypertension, hardening of the arteries will be brought about and high blood pressure and arterio-sclerosis will exist in the same patient. The complication which is most feared is apoplexy; however, apoplexy does not develop until the arteries of the brain are so involved that a blood vessel accident may occur in the brain. Very often, the symptom which comes most sharply to the attention of the patient is a gradual, but persistent, headache. He is kept in a state of constant turmoil by petty disturbances which earlier in life he ignored without effort. Sometimes the patient says that he cannot sleep, or that he arises with a headache. Loss of sleep is another common symptom in high blood pressure. The patient may describe roaring or buzzing noises in the ears, or may say that the vision is blurred.

High blood pressure is a chronic disorder in the sense that it lasts over a considerable period of time, if untreated. However, it has been my experience that the blood pressure may be readily reduced closer to the normal, through the use of the fast. As a matter of fact, it is easier to bring down a blood pressure that is too high, than to raise one which is too low. The abnormally high pressure will respond in a gratifying manner to the fast in the majority of cases. It is very necessary that the patient follow the fasting directions exactly as given, if he expects to reap the benefits which thousands have received from the fasting regimen.

While the fast will rapidly lower the blood pressure that is too high, it is important that the fasting period be followed by a restricted diet. The patient is allowed a moderate amount of meat, an abundance of cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables, and one or two eggs daily but is advised to omit starch, sugars, and excessive amounts of salt. The patient is encouraged to take a moderate amount of exercise, which, however, must not be too strenuous; walking is the best exercise that could possibly be taken. The patient is also cautioned to avoid mental strain and emotions as anger, worry, or anxiety.

Some general suggestions regarding the way of living which I have found to be the best for the high blood pressure patient, are outlined in my special article on the subject. I will be glad to forward this article to all who desire it. Write to me in care of this newspaper and enclose one large, self-addressed envelope, and ten cents, for articles on HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE AND HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Prunes)
Question: Jessie M. S. inquires: "Is it all right to use the canned fresh prunes? My family enjoys them for a change."
Answer: The canned fresh prunes offer a means of introducing a pleasing variety in the meals. The taste is somewhat different from that in the stored dried prunes. Children like the fresh prunes because of the attractive color of the juice.

(Rickets)
Question: Dorothy P. inquires: "What is meant by rickets?"
Answer: The name rickets comes from an Old English word, wricken, meaning to twist, because it twists the bones of the young child out of shape, producing bow-legs, a chest deformity which causes the appearance of pigeon breast, and other changes. Rickets has been more prevalent in the past than at the present time, chiefly because we now know the way to care for infants and young children in such a way as to prevent the disease from developing.

(Whole Wheat)
Question: "Mother of Three" writes: "I was reading an article which says that when the family has little money to spend for food, giving the children whole wheat and whole milk is a good thing. Will this provide the right kind of nourishment?"
Answer: This combination is nutritious, satisfying and healthful. When the food money is low, the mother should learn to use whole wheat.

BIRTHDAY BALL IS BIG EVENT FOR RICHMOND

Mayor W. W. Scott yesterday gave his hearty endorsement to the birthday ball, which will be held tomorrow night, declaring it to be one of the most important events on the year's calendar for Richmond.

"Here is a constructive project of the greatest social importance," said the mayor. "The purpose of these birthday balls, held in every city and town throughout the country, is to raise funds to fight the dread infantile paralysis, a project in which President Roosevelt has taken leadership. Seventy per cent of the money remains in Richmond to care for any local cases that may arise, the remainder goes to the Warm Springs Foundation of Georgia to be used in research and in the campaign throughout the nation. Last year's ball was a distinct success. This year's event should be a still greater one, as it certainly will be if we can judge the advance sale of tickets. Those who have not already secured their tickets should do so at once, and thereby assure themselves of a pleasant evening's recreation, besides contributing to one of the most worthwhile causes that has ever been presented to us."

The ball will be held at Memorial Hall, with music by the Bergmann and Miller orchestra. E. L. Orr is general chairman of the committee and Miss Viola Cox is secretary. The various committees are as follows:

Honorary—Joseph C. Whitnah, J. P. Galvin, G. L. Milnes and Viola Cox.
Door—Clarence Sutcliffe, M. O. Hogue, John Sindrich, Jr., and Jack Faulkner.

Checkroom—Emma Pearman, Laura Record, Myrtle Gosselin, Bernice Harris.
Finance—James N. Long, Sam Holey, E. L. Orr and Viola Cox.

Floor and Reception—W. W. Scott, Mary McCann, Violet Klemm, Joe DeLoe, Chief of Police L. E. Jones, Fire Chief W. H. Cooper.

Refreshments—Mrs. E. L. Orr, Mrs. W. H. Cooper, Joe Ferraro.

EXPO BEACON WELCOMES WORLD

Honorary: Dr. C. A. Blake, Mrs. Ethel Beckley, Ralph Wood, Louise Curtis, Kenneth Wells, Joseph Miller, Clifford Anglin, Judge John Moore, Harold Swallish, Francis Healey, J. O. Ford, Eugene Garvin and Earl Faris.

Committee members in addition to those who are functioning in various capacities include: Michael Connelley, M. Derrling, Mrs. Mary McCann, Mrs. Earl McCann, F. Brown, W. C. Heathers, Hugh Caudel, Viola Brunick, J. P. Duffano and Jack Simmet.

The Richmond ball will be one of 5500 similar events held simultaneously throughout the nation, all of them to be addressed by the President in a nation-wide broadcast. At last year's dances, $1,071,600 was raised in the United States, which was an increase of $68,000 over receipts of the previous year. This year it is hoped to raise a still larger sum. At least 5,000,000 persons will take part this year.

D. K. ALLEN OF LOUISIANA IS ATTACK VICTIM

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27.—(AP) The sudden death of Governor Oscar Kelly Allen, head of the "Long" dictatorship, caused a commotion in Louisiana politics last night.

The 54-year-old governor died of throat hemorrhages at 10:40 A. M. in the governor's mansion at Baton Rouge.

His allies rushed to the capital to meet their worst crisis since Long's assassination last September.

TO TAKE OATH
Lieutenant-Governor James Noe went by airplane from Monrovia to take the oath as governor. Noe has been excluded from higher circles of the late Sen. Long's machine, will rule until Feb. 18, when a new administration headed by Governor-designate Richard W. Leche, takes office.

For nearly four months Noe has been Long's leader at his mercy, bolted from them three months ago and threatened to split the party by running for governor in opposition to Leche. He was reported to be still at odds with Governor L. K. Smith, leader of Long's "share our wealth" society.

Allen was ill only two hours before breakfast, complained of an ailment, but dressed and prepared to leave for his office, by a coughing spell that developed into a hemorrhage, he went to Murphy Riden, a bodyguard, called Dr. Clarence A. Lario, chief advisor to the late Allen. First hemorrhage was stomachic, another developed an hour later, bleeding from all facial organs, the governor died.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—When Senator Glass of Virginia heaped virulent abuse on the youthful head of Senator Nye, last week, he may not have been motivated entirely by the lofty purpose of championing the name of Woodrow Wilson.

Senator Glass may or may not have known what the Munitions investigation which he tried to silence was preparing to reveal.

In the files of Senator Nye's Munitions committee is recorded the fact that Carter Glass, as Secretary of the Treasury under Woodrow Wilson, waived collateral on $494,000,000 of French and British war loans held by the Treasury.

It should be remembered that the proceeding under criticism were conducted in wartime when details of $494,000,000 were subordinated to the central idea of defeating Germany, and it is likely that the whole administration was in on the arrangements that Carter Glass made.

The loans originally were held by J. P. Morgan and Company, whom Senator Glass has so consistently defended. When held by Morgan, however, the loans were secured.

Later, when the United States entered the war, the two loans—$295,000,000 to the British and $200,000,000 to the French—were passed on to the Treasury by Morgan.

Mr. Morgan admitted to the Munitions Committee that the Treasury was entitled to this collateral, but since his testimony the committee has unearthed the fact that the Treasury never got it.

LOAN DUMPING
 It has also unearthed some highly interesting facts regarding the manner in which these private bankers' loans were dumped on to the Treasury.

Upon American entrance into the war, Congress authorized the Wilson Administration to advance money to the Allies "hereafter." William Gibbs McAdoo, then Secretary of the Treasury, informed the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee that this would not apply to Allied obligations already floated in the country.

Shortly thereafter, an Italian loan of $25,000,000 floated by Lee Higginson and Company came up for renewal. The Italian Ambassador wrote a letter to the Treasury stating frankly that Italy lacked either collateral or the means to meet the loan, and that the issue would default unless taken over by the Treasury.

McAdoo put the legality of the transaction up to Attorney General Gregory, who wrote an opinion, couched in reluctant phraseology accepting the Italian issue as a new loan, inasmuch as it was up for renewal. He specifically stated that in rendering this opinion, he was not taking into consideration the intent of Congress.

NOTE—Later Italy secured a write-down of 75 per cent on her war debts to the United States, subsequently was one of the first nations to default.

On the basis of the Gregory opinion, the Treasury later took over the Morgan advances to Great Britain and France of $194,000,000. These two issues were secured by bonds held by French and British Governments or by their nationals.

However, in November, 1919, Norman Davis, then an assistant secretary of the Treasury, wrote a long letter to Carter Glass, his chief, urging that the collateral be waived.

Glass accepted Davis' recommendation. The major portion of the French and British war debts is still owing.

UNIQUE BANKING
 Another disclosure the Munitions Committee is preparing to make is in regard to Allied repayment on loans, and how they were handled by Glass as Secretary of the Treasury.

"King of Burlesque" hailed as the king of musicals, and starring Warner Baxter, will come to the Fox theater tomorrow on a double program with Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan's Secret."

New thrills are brought to the screen in "King of Burlesque." Thrills in song, dance, laughter and drama are abundant in the fast-moving musical presentation Warner Baxter, Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, Arline Judge, Mona Barrie, Gregory Ratoff, Dixie Dunbar, Kenny Baker of the Jack Benny program, Pats Waller, Nick Long, Jr. and many Hollywood dancing beauties.

The story tells of the transportation of a Hawkeye burlesque into a gorgeous Broadway revue. Last Side talent comes 'tup to take Broadway by the heels.

There are six new song hits in the picture—"Spreading Rhythm Around," "I'm Shootin' High" and "Lovey Lady, and others.

The latest Chan feature is different from its immediate predecessors. While it retains all in the way of comedy, drama, the atmosphere of personal adventure and danger, suspense and light romantic love interest, "Chan this time gives his screen devotees something new in thrills and suspense. There are plenty of moments which provoke gasps and shudders.

The cast includes Astrid Allwyn, Edward Trevor, Henrietta Crossman, Herbert Mundin, Arthur Edmund Carewe and Francis Ford. "Remember Last Night" with Edward Arnold and "Her Master's Voice" starring Edward Everett Horton; are the two features playing for the last times today at the Fox theater.

back to their seats. Katie bought her half pint and, with her change folded in her handkerchief, walked out of the bar and down the river bank.

As the door closed behind her, one of the men said, "Why couldn't they tell the old dame about that no-account son of hers?"

But Luke said, "She wouldn't believe it anyway."

Back in her rowboat, Katie fumbled with the cork of the bottle and sampled the whiskey. "Beats all what it does for a body," she told herself.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The talk-box office receipts, but they've confused a type of realism on Manhattan's stages which makes things not so pleasant for the poor actors.

At the Booth Theater, the sound effects of "Mid-West" are enough to parch anyone's throat even in the midst of a severe winter blizzard. Dust swirls on the stage every time a car passes, and the sun bakes everyone red hot and perspiring.

At the end, a torrent of rain sweeps down on the stage, marking the conclusion of the drought, and a drenching Curtis Cooksey and Jean Adair to the skin. Shivering and shaking, the two actors have to come back for a curtain bow before they have a chance to change to dry clothes.

Last season, the final scene of "Gold Eagle Guy" was a vividly staged earthquake in which marble pillars, chandeliers and cracking plaster collapsed on the heads of poor J. Edward Bromberg and Sanford Messner. The gangster plays, of course, have all been filled with rip-smorlin' machine gun fire that must be as uncomfortable to receive as to watch. They use blank cartridges, it's true; but those belching sparks aren't fake, and I imagine they can do damage at times.

The movies, at least can do dumb things when it gets too hot for the actors.

ACTIVE—The individual habits of symphony orchestra leaders constitute a stage show in themselves. New Yorkers for years used to get excited over the visits of the Philadelphia Symphony chiefly because of the golden-haired Leopold Stokowski, whose handsomely-tailored back swayed and tilted to the music with the elegant grace of a ballet dancer. Toscanini's style is a severe military one, with left hand on hip, and baton arm swinging relentlessly in a circular wind-up of which Dizzy Dean could be proud.

Years ago Wilhelm Furtwaengler—perhaps the greatest conductor of them all—startled Carnegie Hall audiences with his habit of singing the melodies through moist, fluttering lips. You could hear the strange sounds in the back of the hall, and the cellists in front of Furtwaengler had to rush up and man recently took poison, and the detective had to pummel her for three hours in order to prevent her lapsing into a fatal sleep. He took three days off to get his wind back.

Chefs are another difficult item to handle. Their tempers are notorious, and if a waitress should make the mistake of arguing with them, trouble usually follows. During a heat wave last summer, one of the hotel's cooks went on a rampage with a meat-ax, and the house officer had to shoot him down in self-defense. There's no figuring the night spot customers at all. At the French Casino, which is one of the barest nudist shows on the island, there was recently featured Kazanova and her gypsy band of male instrumentalists, all fully clothed. It was the band, and work hard in New York's larger and not the comely girls, who got the men, but their most difficult job biggest hand of the evening. An increase in costs of foods, clothing, and other articles was predicted yesterday by William Hansen of an Oakland financial firm when he appeared before the Richmond Lions Club.

Hansen declared that a man on a salary will have to get along as best he can; the owner of bonds should gradually change them into some form of investment which represents ownership, and owners of business should enlarge their inventory at present prices to take advantage of a rising market.

Ralph Wood was chairman of the day. George Imbach reported on the President birthday ball plans.

In most cases, would-be suicides first call the desk downstairs and announce their plans. The house officer then has to rush up and stop the show. In one hotel, a woman recently took poison, and the detective had to pummel her for three hours in order to prevent her lapsing into a fatal sleep. He took three days off to get his wind back.

Modern External Treatment Helps End Colds Sooner

Just Rubbed on at Bedtime
Its Double-Action
Continues Through Hours
of Restful Sleep.

OFTEN RELIEVES BY MORNING

Before a miserable cold gets you down, go to bed and apply Vicks VapoRub. Two generations have proved VapoRub the surest help to a milder, shorter cold.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster.
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

For Fewer and Shorter Colds
Note for your family: Vicks has developed, especially for home use, a practical Plan for Better Control of Colds. This commonsense guide to fewer and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of Vicks Plan come in each VapoRub package.

The grocer who crooned a Lullaby to a baby left

in his store

Her mother "parked" eight-weeks old Catherine, napping peacefully in her carriage, in a corner before she began her round of the shelves.

Now she was ready to leave. Across the street a display of millinery beckoned.

Tom Milton volunteered to "keep an eye" on Catherine.

Five minutes later the baby awoke—and voiced a wail of protest. The Safeway man jiggled the carriage. He made funny faces. But the wails mounted in volume.

Resolutely he lifted the pink bundle into his arms and began to softly mumble a lullaby. He kept it up until Catherine's mother returned.

Back once more in her carriage the baby smiled at Tom. "After all," she might have been saying, "it's a gentleman's business to amuse a lady, isn't it?"

This story of a Safeway grocer and the baby he cared for is true. The mother told us about it in a letter. Only the names of this Safeway man and the baby have been changed—to protect their right to privacy.

YOUR SAFEWAY GROCER welcomes the kind of chance that came to Tom Milton. Such happenings mean new friends for him—and for his store.

He knows that being a good neighbor is just as important as saving his customers money on food (and as important as paying back to the farmer more of each retail food dollar).

You see, your Safeway grocer has tackled a job that the people want done.

That job is to eliminate needless handling charges—to cut down wasteful costs in between farm and market.

Working alone, your Safeway grocer could not get very far with such a job. That's why he has a family to help him—Safeway buyers, warehousemen, truckers and home economists, as well as groccymen.

This team of food experts can save money in food distribution. So your Safeway grocer can sell his foods at lower retail prices.

Thus his customers can afford to buy more. And he can return to the farmer a far bigger share of each food dollar than was possible before the Safeway method was discovered.

Also, he can earn a better income than other men doing similar work. S. A. Skaggs, Division Manager for Safeway and Piggly Wiggly Stores, 5725 East Fourteenth Street, Oakland, California.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

The Question of the Child Who Won't Eat Takes in Many Angles

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

YESTERDAY I answered a correspondent who was worried about a year old child who wouldn't eat. Then I got to thinking about all the children I had seen through the years who were difficult about their eating, and about all the worried parents who had schemed and contrived to get food down those unwilling little throats. It is a never-ending problem, and a serious one.

Our chief aid in this day is our knowledge of concentrated and selective foods and our increasing tendency to use reason rather than any sort of baiting. There are all sorts of reasons why children do not want to eat. Some of them really do not seem to sense the pangs of hunger. Just as some outer skins are less sensitive than others, so some mucous membranes are less sensitive than others and the gastric tract simply doesn't call for nourishment.

An anemic child, or one that isn't very strong, finds eating a task and the effort wears him. This type is our most serious problem. Then his opposite is the alert and curious child who is so interested in what he is going on about him or in what he can do with his food that he forgets to eat it. As the active type of child grows older, he is likely to be so keen to get back to his play that he hasn't time to eat.

Find Out Why

Our first effort must be to find why the child doesn't eat and to meet that answer by another question of what to do about it. Every mother should have some good text book on nutrition to which she can refer. She must learn to match the general physical condition with food that meets the need. Authorities tell you the answer to the problem lies halfway between the psychological and the chemical solution. That is, halfway between the child's mood and the stimulation of his system to the need of nutrition.

I was interested in finding one writer who said, "Sometimes the fault is the child's, and sometimes the fault is nature, and sometimes the fault is the parent's. I am inclined to believe most cases fall into the last-named category."

Well, this is putting it rather bluntly, but suppose we consider the last statement for a moment. Most mothers try to insist the child eat food that is selected because "it is good for him."

We have to remember that in food reactions we find one of the fields in which hereditary tendencies are strong. These tendencies cannot always be corrected by mere choice. I have seen children forced to eat food that immediately came up, certainly not a wise procedure. One of the joys of living for most of us is the development of a discriminating taste.

Child Should Choose

Why should we not admit that this ability to choose belongs also to the child? Much can be done to cultivate the taste, but the tendency to choose is still there. Then when we try to flavor food to suit the child a careful balance must be maintained or we shall find him demanding entirely too much of a favored food, especially sweets. A very common source of trouble is the fact the child is expected to eat in the same order and at the same rate that grownfolks do. That is, the intake of food is to be regulated not by the child's desires or needs, but by the pressure of the big folks' circumstances.

Then there are the spoiled children who learn very soon that to refuse food will bring attention and bribes in the way of special indulgences. Sometimes, the merest curiosity to know what will be next forthcoming prompts a spoiled child to refuse to eat.

There are finally, and always will be, folks who will never like to eat, just as there are folks who do not like to run, or swim, or play golf, or a thousand other things which are the joy of living to others. Among these are sure to be those who began in childhood to resist being fed.

Short Cuts

If your kitchen sink is too low use a stool. It may be more efficient to stand when working at the sink, but when the result is backache, better sit and be comfortable.

Do you know the difference between a sauceman and a steward? A sauceman has a lip. A steward has no lip, and so no steam can escape when cooking in it after the tight-fitting cover is put on.

For a delicious meatless main dish try baking one whole tomato, sliced carrots, and celery; then scallop with cheese.

Cooked vegetables are made more palatable when the home-maker is generous with the butter.

Profiles For Today

Howard Hughes a Startling Fellow

By TALBOT LAKE

OF ALL the astounding young men to be found in the United States there is no doubt the prize of them is Howard Hughes, millionaire, film producer, sportsman, and aviator. Recently Hughes flew across the continent in 9 hours, 27 minutes, unofficially breaking the record held by Roscoe Turner. Although he has been an aviation enthusiast a long time, Young Hughes made the fast jump without any particular fanfare. He just decided to do it and made good.

He has done everything like that. Born in Houston, Texas, he lost his mother when he was sixteen and his father when he was eighteen and a freshman at Rice Institute. The father left him the Hughes Tool Company, for which young Hughes was later offered $75,000,000. He would not sell, and today receives an income of more than $2,000,000 a year.

In 1926 Hughes lived of the tool business and turned the management over to his associates, for he yearned for something less prosaic. He has never been prosaic since. He went to Hollywood and threw his millions into the production of motion pictures, without any technical knowledge of their demands.

Others looked upon him as a good thing, especially when he spent several years and $4,000,000 in the making of "Hell's Angels," the striking aviation drama. Hughes has had the last laugh, however, for the picture returned a profit. Other successful films he sponsored were "Two Arabian Knights," "The Racket," "Scarface," "The Front Page," "Sky Devils," and "The Age for Love." Howard frankly admits he does better with he-man stuff than tender sentiment, which accounts for the virility of his list.

He has been reported engaged to many of the screen stars at various times, but can't seem to make up his mind. On the set, however, he makes it up and holds it against all opposition. They call it "Howard's stubbornness." This trait, although he is an orphan, Howard is not alone in the world, for his uncle is Rupert Hughes, the well-known novelist.

Lines in Face Are Softened With Creams

By JACQUELINE HUNT

ADVANCING years can be beautiful and inspiring if you will only look ahead far enough. They may bring a few lines to your face. Your hair may become white, but your eyes can be more knowing and kind, and you can be charming when you mingle with those younger than yourself.

Perhaps you have found your first gray hair; perhaps the first wrinkle has appeared and your complexion is sallow. Begin at once, but you may have to work overtime at first to undo the marks of years of neglect. It is better to postpone the first wrinkle and double chin when possible and you can take steps now to prevent your skin from coarsening and becoming lazy and dull.

Two thorough cleansings daily and a weekly facial will do wonders for the muscles and skin of the face. One of the daily cleansings must be made with soap and water to remove every trace of oil, dust, perspiration, and cosmetics that tend to clog the pores.

A noonday cleansing is needed if you work in an office. Afternoon cleansing and renewal of make-up is advised if you spend your days at home. Use a cleansing cream followed by a gentle tonic or an astringent. Perhaps the cleansing should be followed by a rich tissue cream or muscle oil. Older skins must have lots of oils to keep them fresh and pliant.

Incidentally, it is better to have your skin just a little bit on the oily side if you wish to postpone the appearance of age lines. Most skins are too dry, and consequently harsh lines form where naturally there should be only faint laugh lines, dimples or gentle character lines on the face.

Remember, no creams or astringents in the world can remove really-truly wrinkles, but there are many creams and oils that soften the skin and go a long way toward preventing them. Every night pat a rich cream into the skin, sensitive skin around your eyes.

And now the weekly facial—there are a number of simple things you can use to stimulate the muscles and refine the skin. The simplest is the white or the yolk of an egg smoothed over the skin and allowed to dry. If you use the yolk—and it is less drying than the whites—mix it with a teaspoon of lemon juice to increase its bleaching effect.

Puller's earth mixed to a paste with witch hazel also makes a good facial mask that can be prepared at home. Of course, the facials must be preceded by a thorough cleansing. When the facial pack has dried moisten the face with a warm water. Follow by an application of cream, leave it on the skin ten to twenty minutes, then remove with a mild tonic. You will find such a treatment puts life in the dull skin.

Beauty Tips

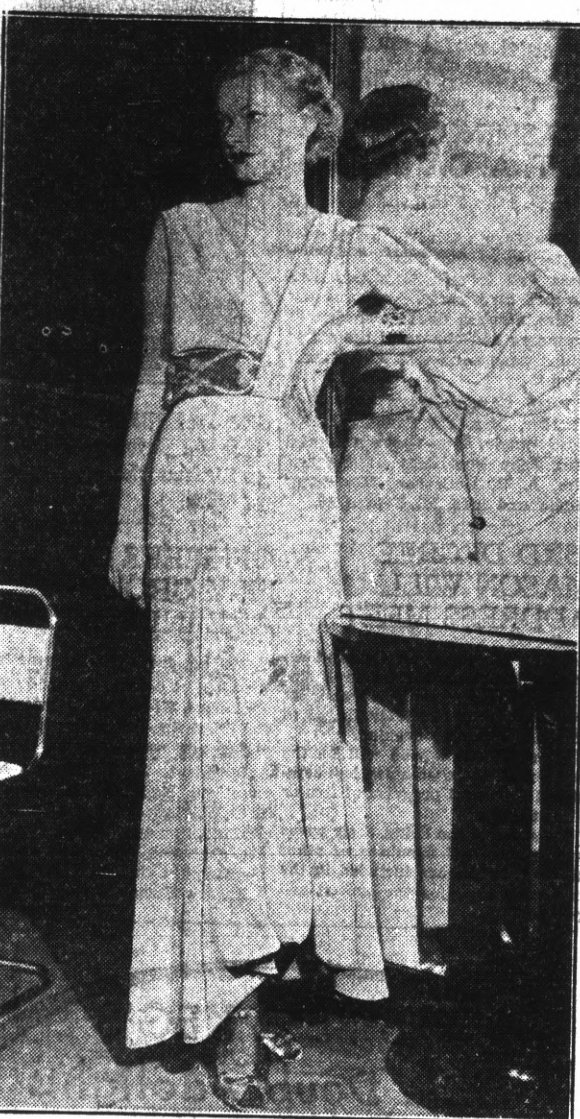

QUESTION: "I have a beauty fault that is most embarrassing. When the weather is cold my nose gets very red and it is sore and sensitive for several hours after exposure. I am in perfect health, yet this condition has existed since I was thirteen. I get plenty of sleep, I have tried all kinds of creams and lotions without results."—Jean."

Apparently you have an unusually delicate and sensitive skin and the only thing you can do is to protect it as much as possible. Get an oily foundation cream, something like theatrical grease, apply it to your damp skin after cleansing blend it lightly and apply a cream rouge and your powder. Use lots of powder and remove the excess with a soft brush, then dip a pad of cotton in very cold water and pat over your skin to "set" your make-up. I believe this method of make-up will do more than anything else to protect your skin from the cold.

Perfume—expensive, lovely, glamorous. Yet how many girls do you know who use perfume as a regular thing? Some of you ask, "How can I choose a perfume that suits my personality?" Some ask, "How can I tell a really good perfume?" or "How can I use it properly?"

Choose a perfume because you love it. Maybe you are an outdoor type, yet you prefer a perfume that is dreamy and sweet. Then use it; it makes you mysterious and interesting. Only use it discreetly. Price is not a test of a really good perfume—the surest test is whether or not it bears a great name. When a perfumecr has made his name famous he will not risk his reputation by selling an inferior blend.

"Shorter in Front"

The "Shorter in Front" gown is the latest trend, and is illustrated here in a gown of chartreuse yellow silk crepe. The belt is midnight blue suede with heavy gold braided and white woven silk braid stitched with gold thread. The back is cut square to the waist.

Flowers as Accessories Becoming More Important

By IRENE VAIL

New York—Flowers are slated to be one of the important accessories this spring, and it is none too early to start getting into the habit of wearing them. As a matter of fact, many women are wearing artificial flowers with their fur coats all during the winter, and one of the most dramatic ways which has been observed recently is to pose a colored flower on the black or brown fur coat, matching it with bright gloves—a number of smart women at one recent gathering illustrated this idea.

Silver fox is the fur de luxe for day time capes, but there is interest and significance in the fact that the cape, fur and otherwise, has become a transatlantic travel fashion. It is in high favor and deserves attention because of the sustained approval manifested by smartly-dressed travelers for the fur cape costume. Every important ship that arrives has its quota of well-dressed women in capes decorated with this season, by reason of their length, which is apt to be from two-thirds to seven-eighths, and in the definite reiteration of several fur types. Butria is the repeated choice with brown or beige costumes of sportswear impression; mink and black caracul are more formal-looking favorites, with either black or deep, rich colored fabric ensembles. Persian lamb is most frequently seen in capes which are part of the all-black ensemble.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Please let me know through the Modes and Manners column, at an early date, what kind of bridal escort is appropriate for a small home wedding? Is it in order to have flower girls?—M. D."

ANSWER: For a small home wedding a maid of honor and a bridesmaid, or just the maid of honor, is all the escort one need consider. Flower girls are for more elaborate weddings. Simplicity should be remembered, is the chief charm of an informal home wedding.

QUESTION: "Is it a better taste for a divorced woman to give up wearing the wedding ring?"—M. D. W. L."

ANSWER: Whether she does this is optional, and of a question of etiquette. But if she is planning a second marriage, especially if her engagement has been announced, it would be in better taste not to wear it at all.

Always Well To Have Dish 'On the Fire'

By JUDITH WILSON

EVERY homemaker has faced the problem of preparing meals that will not deteriorate by waiting. Even in the best regulated homes father may be detained at his office some evenings or guests are unable to arrive at the appointed time. The menus today—either of them attractive enough for guests to wait anywhere from one-half to an hour without their goodness being impaired.

DINNERS
Cream of Lima Soup
Escalloped Chicken and Sweetbreads in Casserole
Steamed Rice
Hot Biscuits
Tomato-Cucumber Salad
Fresh Fruit Cup
Sugar Wafers

Chicken and Mushrooms

For the scalloped chicken and mushrooms, melt 2 tablespoons of butter or chicken fat, add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion and 1/4 pound, peeled and sliced mushrooms. Sauté until tender. Add 1/2 cup flour and when blended add 1 cup of hot chicken stock, 1/2 cup milk and 1/2 cup cream. Add 1 cup cubed chicken (cooked), 1 cup cubed, par-boiled sweetbreads, 1/2 cup blanched almonds and 1 teaspoon salt. Put into individual baking dishes or into a casserole. Top with buttered bread crumbs and brown in the oven.

You can wait until the later-comer has made his appearance before putting this dish into the oven if you wish. The top will brown lightly in a hot oven while the first course is being served and eaten.

Any kind of soup can be kept hot over boiling water until it is needed. Often muffins or biscuits can be baked and kept light and crisp and hot in the upper part of a double boiler. Or in the case of biscuits you might prefer to keep them in the refrigerator uncooked until your doorbell rings. Cold appetizers, salads and desserts are always good choices for the meal that may have to wait. They can be kept in the refrigerator and may be improved by the waiting.

Turnip-Sausage Casserole

Pork sausages, yellow turnip and potatoes make a delightful supper dish for the family. Butter 6 individual casseroles or baking dishes. Wash and pare 12 small potatoes of uniform size. Remove the center portion with an apple corer. Rub each potato with melted bacon fat or butter, and fill the cavity with a plump pork sausage cut in half. Place 2 potatoes in each casserole and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Meanwhile boil a large yellow turnip cut into small dice. When tender, drain, mash and mix with 2 beaten eggs and 1/2 cup whipped cream. Season to taste with salt and pepper, beat until fluffy and arrange around the potatoes in the casserole. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake for another half hour in a moderate oven.

FOR THE BRIDGE PARTY.

ORANGE CREAM CAKE: 3 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 cup butter or other shortening, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract, 4 egg whites. Beat butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with egg whites quickly and thoroughly. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Spread Orange Filling between layers and White Mountain Cream on top and sides of cake. Decorate top with orange sections, free from all membrane.

MODERN WOMEN

The Case of a Husband Who Puts His Parents Before His Wife

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

WHEN a man marries he is naturally expected to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with his wife against the world, even against his parents if their conduct toward his wife has been unfair. When a husband tells his wife his parents come first, as is the situation in the following letter, there is nothing the wife can do but accept his word for it and act accordingly. Which, in my opinion, is to look after her own best interests.

You and Your Child

Home Should Provide Child With Play Space

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

TOMMY was making believe he was a cowboy. He sat astride a straightback chair in the foyer, gripping the sides with tense, grimy fists. He was swaying dizzily and bounding around to carry out the idea that he was riding at great speed. The fun did not last long, however. For mother, having finished dressing, came up and put a stop to it. "Get off that chair and put it back as it was," she ordered. "I've told you I did not want you playing in this part of the house today. I'm expecting guests, and you're to stay in the back." Tommy complained, "Gee, I can't play anywhere. I have nowhere to play."

"Stop whining, Tommy. Anyone hearing you would think it was true. You know it's not. Ordinarily you are privileged to play any place you please. Isn't it so?" Reluctantly, the boy nodded his head. "But today I'm having company, and as a special favor I'd like you to play in the back, in the spare room. Now that ought to be room enough for any young man to play in." She chuckled his chin, and Tommy, grinning sheepishly, did as told.

In a few minutes, mother called Tommy to the front of the house again. "Pick up those trains from under the dining room table and take them back with you. And here's your bench. Take that, too." Like Tommy, many children have lots of toys and live in spacious homes, but have not a play place they can call their own. Like nomads they are obliged to move with their belongings from room to room at mother's request. Every child needs a place of his own to play in. Even if it is no more than a corner of a room, it should be screened off. He is entitled to some privacy. He needs the assurance that he is safe playing there and that his things will not be tampered with. The spare room at Tommy's, for instance, could be put to better use by converting it into a playroom.

Mrs. Goward's leaflet, "Meeting the School Child's Problem," will be mailed gladly. Just address her care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Making Life Apart

Under the painful existing circumstances I feel I must advise you to consider making your life apart from your husband at least still such time as he comes to a realization of his responsibility toward you.

It's unthinkable that you return to his father's roof, since you have been told to stay away from it. If your husband provides a suitable home for you and you can live on the bitterness in your heart think you could afford to take a chance with him. Evidently you've just as decided a dislike for your family as they have for you. You are naturally embittered because of your husband's stand. If you see no reason for you to stay, since it would be impossible for you to live independently of his people.

are seriously considering have weighed all the pros and cons, as well as whatever you feel divorce would mean to you. You are still young and I to support yourself. Some of your letter there seem to be much to excuse your husband, although the court will determine of the case. You're not that your husband loves you. I feel content no longer love him—simplifies the whole.

Staying Five Months

"We stayed on the farm for five months. My husband worked for his father all that time without one cent of salary. After agreement was to get half interest in the farm. During that time there was no money coming in, and me needing things, I felt that I had to get a job in order to get them. As I left to get a job my husband's father put me out and told me never to come back there, and my husband didn't say one word. This happened over a month ago. I am now staying with my parents. My husband has been down to see me, but not until I had seen my attorney.

He doesn't act as though he really loves me. I asked him if he wanted a divorce and he said 'No.' He is staying with his parents and makes no attempt to find some way that we could live alone. He has said he wants to rent the farm next to his parents' stand. If that's not positive, I think I'm too close to his parents. I think I may have grown colder toward him myself, because I know his parents come first in his heart, because no matter what they do or say it's his parents' stand. If I say it's his parents' stand, I'm afraid I will never be happy with him under the circumstances. I wonder whether I should divorce him or give him a chance. Undecided."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE
WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel weak and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of pills, mince water, oil, laxative candy or purgative gum and expect them to make you suddenly want red hots and a full stomach.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels in a mere momentary downy get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, and often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
If you take these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get rid of two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up" and so. They contain wonderful, harmless gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. This don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Never a substitute. Beware of cheap ones. © 1935 C. M. Co.

like to settle whatever Loebe had against him. Loebe said he had no time then but he was going to take his bath shortly after lunch and would see him then.

"The place where Loebe bathed is next to an anteroom, off the prison dining hall. The anteroom is being remodeled to provide a class room for Loebe's correspondence school course, which he has been giving some of the prisoners."

HAD RAZOR

"Day, who had been helping repair the room, went to the bathroom some five minutes before Loebe arrived, he said. Loebe locked the door as soon as he came into the bathroom. Day said, and started to take a shower bath. Day insists that Loebe had the razor with him, but I doubt this, as there was not a scratch on Day. He has a black eye which he said he got in another scuffle a few days ago, and there is a mark on his cheek where he says Loebe struck him. Otherwise Day is unscathed."

Continuing Day's version, Powers said Loebe finally ordered Day to address, using the razor for a threat.

HORRIBLE WOUNDS

"Day says he did so, but as he went into the shower he kicked Loebe and Loebe fell. Day said he fell on Loebe and knocked the razor from his hand. Seizing it, he slashed at Loebe several times, lost it once under a blow from Loebe, but retrieved it."

"Finally, he slashed Loebe repeatedly, inflicting horrible wounds then turned on the cold water and washed the blood off himself. He then picked up the razor and his shirt and came out to surrender to two guards, who had heard the commotion and were trying to get in."

DIED IN HOSPITAL

Loebe died three hours later in the prison hospital, with eight physicians in attendance. One of them was the Loebe family doctor, Lester E. Frankenthal, Jr., who had been dispatched from Chicago as soon as the "thrill slayer's" condition was learned. Ernest Loebe, his brother, was at his bedside when Loebe died.

The body was to be taken to Chicago late tonight after a coroner's jury has been sworn in over it. The inquest will be held tomorrow.

confidence.

He asks all business concerns to co-operate with the enumerators who call upon them for census data.

TELLS OF VALUE

Describing the value of the census, Sheldon said that from the result banks and financial agencies are enabled to extend commercial credit more freely because of the accurate knowledge of what constitutes sound operating expenses and stock ratios; news agencies are enabled to establish their consumer market in their circulation fields; wholesalers are able to make a better appraisal of their immediate and potential trade territories and thus avoid unproductive expense; advertising agencies can determine comprehensive and accurate markets for various products; retailers are supplied with needed data on their competitive situation, not only in their particular field but also regarding the extent of other kinds of competitive business; real estate values, property rentals and the basis for percentage leases are frequently determined from business census data, which have great weight because they are strictly factual statements without prejudice.

As fast as reports are received they are sent to Philadelphia by registered mail, where they are carefully guarded. Five to eight abulating cards are punched to record the information on each report, and no names or addresses appear on these cards. The cards are tabulated with other cards to produce the figures which are published and become the recognized statistics of business.

Favors Rigorous Cross-Examination

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 28.—UP—Governor H. G. Hoffman today said Dr. J. F. "Jafie" Condon should be vigorously cross-examined in regard to "discrepancies" in his stories of the Lindbergh kidnap case.

Condon, who is vacationing in South America, warrants "far more than the cream puff type of questioning to which he has been subjected," Hoffman told reporters.

"Why don't you instruct the authorities to question Dr. Condon, since you have said he ought to be questioned?" Hoffman was asked. "Dr. Condon is out of the United States," he answered, "and he cannot be questioned effectively until he returns."

Safety Hints

Know Your Traffic Laws

IGNORANCE is sometimes bliss, but not when it comes to state traffic laws and local ordinances. Ignorance of the law excuses no driver; either legally or morally, for a violation which results in an automobile smashup. It is every driver's duty to know and to obey all city and state traffic laws. Moreover, such knowledge is just about as essential to your safety as the actual mechanics of driving. Certain temporary conditions often call for special traffic regulations and these should also be observed rigidly. If you plan a trip through neighboring states where the laws may be slightly different from those in your own, familiarize yourself with the regulations at your very first opportunity.

discussion regarding a local attorney, who had just scored a notable legal victory in the Oakland courts. The securing of the verdict was attributed solely to the element of luck. It is just at this point I disagree with such a conclusion. In addition to years of preparation, a rich endowment of brains entered into that victory, plus a native ability to talk to men in the jury box in a convincing manner. That gift of eloquence naturally has been cultivated, but it must have originally been there. Other factors also enter into such a situation. There must be a marshaling of evidence and testimony in such manner as to create the belief of the justness of the cause advocated. That is a job for no tyro or inexperienced practitioner. Give the novice proofs as strong as those from Holy Writ and the chances are good that he will blunder in their presentation and will not be able to capitalize his advantage in argument. On the other hand the skilled advocate, even though his cause be weak will be able to make a showing and perchance outgeneral and outwit his adversary.

WOULD LIKE SOME

Although I still cling to my original argument, I am not so astigmatic as to lose sight of the fact that there are other factors besides luck which must be recognized to account for certain results and achievements. Luck is not the controlling factor in the destinies of the human race, but I would rather have a touch of it, than be without.

Filipino Given Time To Plead

MARTINEZ, Jan. 28.—Appearing in court late yesterday before Superior Judge A. F. Bray for arraignment on a charge of murder, Florencio Castillo, 39 year old Concord Filipino, had his case continued until February 3, to plead to the charge.

Attorney William L. Wollitz was appointed by Judge Bray to represent Castillo and he asked the delay in the time to plead.

A Filipino interpreter, Alex Labarias, was in court to explain the proceedings to the defendant. Castillo is charged with fatally wounding Isidro Lago, 24, also a Filipino, at the Gelbke ranch near Concord the evening of January 22. It is claimed by officers that Castillo became enraged when Lago and Perfilio Estillora, 25, another Filipino, called him names, and attacked both with a large bolo knife. Lago died from his wounds but Estillora will recover.

SIMPLE CEREMONY

The striking simplicity of the brief rite in the chapel was in marked contrast to the elaborate pageantry of the state funeral procession from Westminster Hall through the streets of London and Windsor.

Extraordinary police precautions were taken because a burst of fire from a sub-machine gun or a bomb thrown into the crowd of kings, princes and statesmen behind the coffin might have altered world history.

So great was the crush of the crowds, hundreds were injured and required hospitalization. Thousands became faint and were given emergency treatment. The jam was so

Assault Charge Plea Postponed

MARTINEZ, Jan. 28.—Superior Judge A. F. Bray today continued until February 3 the time for Giuseppe Prestinari, 56, of Richmond, to make his plea to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Prestinari appeared in court with his attorney Leo G. Marcello of Richmond, and asked the continuance.

He is charged with attacking Mrs. Ermina Gerletti, 51, of 491 Wall street, Richmond, a neighbor, with a five-foot length of iron pipe. The alleged attack occurred December 24, 1935.

It is alleged that the funeral procession was 33 minutes late reaching Padon railway station, an almost unheard of thing.

A nine-coach funeral train bore the coffin and principal mourners to Windsor, where a second procession wended its way to the gray walls of Windsor castle, where lie the king George's forefathers. An incongruous note was movie cameras peeping from the narrow battlements of the ancient structure and radio cars controlling traffic outside.

Crash Damage Suits On Trial

MARTINEZ, Jan. 28.—Joint trial of two automobile collision injury suits, seeking aggregate damages of $21,506.70, was under way today in Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston's court, where attorneys are engaging in selecting a jury.

Master Kerr asks $10,800 in a suit he filed against Joseph Dagna and Joseph Cogoliola while Sam Ong asks $5,706.70 and his wife, Yee Sing Ong, seeks $5,000 in actions filed against the same defendants.

It is alleged that Kerr, Ong and Mrs. Ong suffered injuries on August 11, 1935, in an automobile collision at Rheem and San Pablo avenues, Richmond.

Kerr alleges he suffered several fractured ribs and cuts about the head and chin. Ong and his wife were passengers in the Kerr automobile. He claims he suffered a broken arm and his wife received severe cuts on the forehead and face which assertedly left scars. Attorneys Hugh Donovan of Pittsburg, Robert V. Collins of Richmond and Jesse Nichols of Oakland represent the plaintiffs while the firm of Rodgers, Wollitz & Carmody of Martinez represents the defendants.

I got real value when I equipped my home for GAS HEAT

IN THE new homes you have seen being built everywhere during the past year—nine out of ten are equipped for gas heating. Why? The answer is that gas heating equipment gives more real value, is less expensive to buy than any other type of heating equipment which will do the same satisfactory heating job.

The owners or builders of these new homes did not buy blindly. They learned the facts about gas heating from architects and contractors. In first cost modern gas heating equipment is less. In operation there are no complicated gadgets—gas heating equipment is as easy to operate as a kitchen gas range.

One year from now or ten years from now, the owners of these new homes will be just as enthusiastic about gas heating as they are now. Year after year nothing can give as much comfort, convenience and all-round satisfaction. Why not investigate gas heating for your home?
